

Notes Regarding Inventor Professional 10 Distribution

AU06

1. The Inventor Professional 10 material now being distributed to you is licensed as 'academic career', i.e., it is valid for as long as you are a student at OSU.
2. There is a short installation guide in the CD's case.
3. You must be logged-on to your computer with administrator privileges in order to install the software.
4. You should be connected to the internet during software installation so activation of the software can be properly completed. {Failure to follow this recommendation will result in the program running in evaluation mode for no longer than 30 days; at which time the program can be properly activated only by calling the tech-support help line noted below}.
5. The Autodesk website (www.autodesk.com) has helpful information under the support selection.
6. The vendor has indicated that any service packs have already been incorporated into this particular distribution of the Inventor software.
7. If you require additional assistance, the phone number for help for Inventor installation or activation problems is:

1-888-528-4765 (M-F, 8a-8p Eastern Time)

The phone number is associated with IMAGINiT, a re-seller of Autodesk products. Identify yourself as an Ohio State University engineering student, and have your software serial number available as it may be requested by the tech-support person.

8. For any administrative issues regarding the software distribution, you may contact Mike Hoffmann (hoffmann.2@osu.edu), Director of Instructional Technology for the College of Engineering.
